Motorola Spectra TAC (S-Tac) analog voting relies on two critical timings and correct squelch points to operate correctly: 1. When a receiver unsquelches (the combination of carrier squelch and PL decode), there has to be a 15ms period of silence between the end of status tone and gating of receiver audio onto the line. This pause causes the AGC in the comparator to hold at the value last ...

I followed the tuning procedure in the Spectra TAC receiver manual (68P81026E31-C) for each receiver shelf. About all of them required minor adjustment. Here's a view of the receiver shelf with all of the cards in place. After all receivers were adjusted, it was time to set the jumpers on each card to work in a -13dB system.
